ALASKA CENTENNIAL FOR 1967

It has come to the paper's attention that a number of students are not familiar with the Alaska Centennial for 1967.

This celebration is taking place because of the 100th anniversary when Alaska was purchased from Russia in 1867.

Recently, the Centennial Committee wrote to the editors of the Wrangell Eagle, and asked if the editors could write a page or two for the Centennial concerning what the Wrangell area is planning for the celebration.

All organizations in the city of Wrangell are assisting the Centennial Committee in renovating the first public school in Wrangell to make it look like it did when it was first built.

The school building will also have a museum containing a variety of items that brings out the history of the Wrangell area.

Preparations for the Institute are being made to beautify the campus. Since many visitors are expected, student directed tours are planned for guiding the tourists. The tourists will also be able to read events taken place as to the history of Wrangell Institute. If interested, the people will be allowed to take with them the historical brochure of the school.

If you are interested and would like more information about the "1967 Centennial Celebration," read magazines and newspapers which will tell more about it.

THREE MORE WEEKS!

This 1965-1966 school year has been wonderful. Students have all tried to make it a happy one. Very few students have had mishaps because of, what you would call, homesickness.

The faculty and staff members have also helped to make this a successful year. This is appreciated very much.

The nine months are almost over. There are only three more weeks before boarding the airplane, so try and make this an extra wonderful time for everybody--staff, faculty, and students.

STUDENT WINS CONTEST

On Friday, May 6th, Mr. Heflebower awarded a prize of $5.00 to Evon Wassilie for winning an Eagle drawing contest that was offered by the school to all of the students. Evon's drawing was selected from among 27 others. The Student Council acted as judges.

The Eagle drawn by Evon will be the Wrangell Institute official Eagle.

REPORTER OF THE YEAR

Rose Prince, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Prince of Sheldon Point, Alaska, has been named WRANGELL EAGLE "Reporter of the Year." Rose is being honored so due to the outstanding job of reporting that she has done for the paper this year.

In writing a column called "Campus Reporter," Rose dutifully worked her beat not missing a single issue. She has taken notes, rewrote her material, and in most cases typed it up for duplication.

Rose has been attending Wrangell Institute since the year 1958. For the next school term she will be a student at the Mt. Edgecumbe Boarding School.

Who's Who?

Linda Hadley

This is the last issue of our newspaper for this year and the girl who will be put in this column has jet black hair, wears glasses, and lives in section 11. Her home town is Kotzebue and she is going to Chemawa next year.

WHO IS SHE?????

This boy is probably the cutest boy on the campus. He has light brown hair, his height is about 3 feet 6 inches and his homeroom teacher is Mrs. Lemley.

WHO IS HE?????

PROM DANCE BEING PLANNED

The prom dance will be on the 14th of this month. It is said to be a semiformal dance.

The dance committee has been very busy behind closed doors. For sure they are working hard for that special night.

BISHOP GORDON COMES TO CAMPUS

Today April 28th Bishop Gordon came to the campus and saw the Episcopal students. We were very glad to see him. He talked for a little while and said he would be around for a while.

Father Caum was present at this time. I think that we had a really good time just talking to him. It was a nice day and most of the students were indoors. He arrived in the afternoon and everyone got to see him about 4:30. The students of the Episcopal faith hope that he stays a little longer. Though, they have to leave soon. It was nice seeing him again.

Poetry of the Month...

SPRING

Spring is here,
Spring is here,
Gentle breezes blowing,
Birds are here,
Skies are clear,
To the wood we are going.
It's time for pussy willows,
It's time for snow to go,
Spring is here,
Spring is here,
The greatest time of all the year.Linda Hadley

HOMEWARD BOUND

One day in the dorm
Everything was in a storm.
Girls were talking, very excited,
And every word was being recited.
Suitcases were stacked high,
As everyone began to cry
With a happy sound
"We are homeward bound."

Edna Riley....

GETTING READY TO GO HOME

Girls are busy packing,
While some are still stacking
Clothes and junk, here and there
Trunks and suitcases everywhere.

Some are even perspiring
Over all their ironing.
And some are getting cross
Because they have too much wash.

....Francine Morgan

HEADING HOME

The time for heading home is quite soon.
I'll have to pack my clothes, if I have room.

To my friends I'll have to say, "Goodbye,"
For I'm going home and that is no lie.

THE GLIDING EAGLE

Up above the earth so high
An eagle glides as it flies.
It dips and swoops as if to find
A bit of food of its own kind.
And then, Alas! It begins to fall
Right toward the bottom of a canyon wall.
I think he progressed at the little spray
For he was now right on his way.
Soon I hope to see another one,
For watching it is always fun.

....Marlys Woods

WISHES FOR SMILES

I wish sadness would go away,
People can be so happy and gay,
But instead there are frowns.
Oh! I don't mean to act like clowns!
Still, a smile would be preferable,
Though not always possible.
So, if you see one come your way,
Be sure and return it, even if a mile away!

....Nancy Hess

MAY

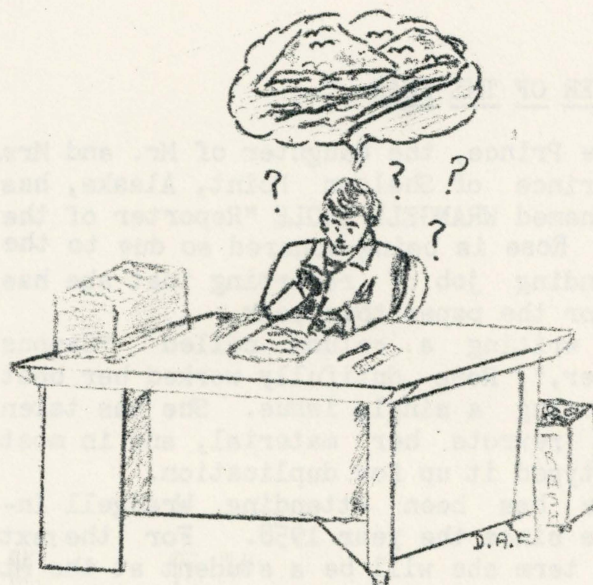

It is May though the sky is gray
The children run and jump and play.
So how can you tell it is May?
By the birds that sing so gay,
By the flowers that look so pretty in May,
By the green grass in which you lay,
Or by the way you feel gay,
Even though the sky is gray.

....Tim Akers

CHILDHOOD REMINISCENCE

Yesterday as I watched the children play,
I thought back thru the years
Of how I skipped and ran each day,
Of happiness and of fears.
Oh, the most hurtful moment I recalled
Was the day I fell and really bawled!
Though there were unpleasant days,
I wish I could go back into the past,
I think it really pays...
To try and make it last.

Frank Rice

Just lately I have found,
That spring has come around,
An you have to go,
I'll miss you, this I know,
And I'm hoping that later I'll see you,
But right now all I can do,
Is send to you, from me,
Everything in your future to be.

"SOUNDS OF THE INSTITUTE"

One quiet Sunday afternoon,
The dishwasher was busy washing spoons,
The sky was cloudy and kind of damp,
You could hear the footsteps of little tramps.
Up on the play ground was a Basketball Team
Listening to the sound of "Walter's Theme"
It floated in the air so sweet and low waiting for the wind to make it go.
Many people were listening to it
For Walter was making another hit.

BOY LIKES GIRL

A boys likes a girl
When she's all dressed-up so neat.
She makes his head twirl
Every time they meet.
A boys likes a girl
Because of her looks.
It makes him so sure
That its better than reading books.
He likes the smile on her face
That makes him think of her warm embrace.

Arlene Albert.....

"HOME BOUND"

Just lately I have found,
That soon I'll be homebound,
As time passes by,
I often wonder why,
Though not only me,
Why so soon should if be,
That we, you and I,
Must say to each other, good-bye.

THE RAVEN

I look out the window
And what do I see?
A little raven sitting in a tree.
I ask him what is bothering him,
But all he does is stare.
I look all around and then I see
A pair sitting on a limb.
Now I know what the matter is,
The lady raven was once his.
So I shoo the other raven away,
And make sure the lady raven will stay.

GOING SOME WHERE?

Are you going to another school next year? If you are and want to know more about the school you are going to, see your adviser or guidance counselor. He may tell you about it or he may even give you a booklet to look through.

The reason for this is to let you know how the school operates and how things are done. Maybe you are one who doesn't want to get into any kind of trouble in your next school. So why not look at some of the rules of that school.

These books were written by these school to let the future students plan ahead. So why not see your adviser or guidance counselor about it. He can help you.

SELECTING A DETAIL!

In May, the last month of the school, the students were allowed to select a detail instead of being given a detail. The students who belonged to a high-scoring section were the first to select a detail and of course they chose the less complicated detail they could find in the list of details. Then the students next in line selecting a detail were the second high scorers, then third, fourth etc. The last group of students to select a detail were those in lowest scoring section. They had to take the leftovers or scraps of the details. Some students in the lowest scoring section had about two or three details, which were the most disliked details. most of the boys think it is good selecting a detail instead of being given one.

BAKING IN HOME ECONOMICS

In the home economics class girls are baking several kinds of pasteries. Even the kinds of pasteries they have never made before.

Miss Stephens helps the class with the baking. Today, a pastry called "Baked Alaska" was make. It was delicious. It was an egg yolk sponge cake with ice cream in the center. The girls are going to make some other kinds of pasteries soon.

TRACK BOYS RUN THE LOOP

Some of the boys have been running the loop lately. They run it almost everyday and weekends to keep their muscles in shape.
The boys do this because they are running for track.

Actually the loop is a road leading out and away from Wrangell and swings right back again after a distance of two and a hakf miles. The matrons at the boys' dorm, and also the whole staff think it is very nice, for the boys to run that strip. The students also have been doing really well at it. The boys think they should keep it up. The matrons and staff don't want to spoil it, and the students don't intend to either.

GETTING READY TO GO HOME

The students of Wrangell Institute are getting ready to go home. It will not be long until that day comes.

The girls are getting ready to pack up. Now the girls are busy washing and ironing their own clothes. After the girls have washed and ironed their clothes they will be able to keep only three of each kind of clothes.

After the girls get what they want to keep the aids check their luggage to see if the girls have their own belongings. After they are checked the aids will put them in luggage room until the girls leave for home.

BUSY MONTH OF MAY

Schooling will soon be coming to an end when every student will be traveling home. The packing business has started up in both the boys' and girls' dorms. The students will be busy washing, ironing, and packing their suitcases. The busiest ones will be matrons who will be checking the suitcases, making tags and signs for hometown traveling and keeping keys and suitcases in order.

The month of May will be the busiest of all for the whole campus.

GRAYLING FISHING TIME AT EAGLE, ALASKA

Every spring from April to May the people of Eagle, Alaska go fishing for grayling. A grayling is a fish somewhat like a trout but is in the whitefish family. The grayling gets about 21 inches long.

In the fall the grayling comes down the creeks and into the Yukon River and spends a winter in the river. In the spring around this time they head up the creeks. Some people of Eagle Village go about two miles up the river and come to fishing holes at the mouth of Eagle Creek. Eagle Creek is a creek that comes down from the Canadian side and goes into the Yukon River above Eagle Village. Eagle Village lies on the Yukon River. It is three miles up from Eagle City.

Yes, it's fun catching grayling. The people walk or use dog sleds, or snow tractors. Boy, I would like to be home fishing for grayling now. Fishing for grayling is really fun.

SCHOOL PROBLEM BACK AGAIN!

The school year is rapidly coming to an end here at Wrangell Institute. It won't be very long until the students will be on their way home. The students are thinking of home and what they are going to do this summer.

There's one problem that the teachers have each year, and we all know it. Students don't finish their school work or studying. Each year it happens in every school. Now, teachers are encouraging students to do all their work, and trying to let them bring their grades up. Students may think it isn't important now, but it will help you later on.

CAMP BEING BUILT

About two months ago Mr. Merrit, the recreation specialist, started taking small groups of boys to the woods to clear out a path and build a camp site for those who were going to summer school. This went on every weekend on Saturdays at two o'clock. Sack lunches were taken.

Mr. Merrit himself constructed a small dam for drinking water.

Unexpected Summer, by Gertrude E. Mallette (Double Day & Co.): Selden Theredithe was a young girl looking for a summer job so she could finish college in the fall. She wanted to be a newspaper reporter, but the City Editor thought she couldn't get news if it walked up to her. Now how can she get through college? Then she remembered a course she took in high school in candy making. Why can't she make candy and sell it? Soon she was down to business making candy and trying to persuade the City Editor to give her a job as a reporter. Finally he gives in, giving her the job.

Between batches of candy she gathered news, typed up her reports and handed it in to the City Editor. But it wasn't easy for Selden. How would she ever make it? While she was gathering news she was burning her candy, wasting all her money as fast as she was earning it.

Navaho Sister, by Evelyn S. Lampman (Double Day & Co.): Sad girl, A Navaho had no other name except Sad Girl. She and her Grandmother had no family or clan, so all the other Navahos pitied them. When Sad Girl left her Grandmother to go to Chemawa, Oregon she made up her mind that no one at Chemawa would know she had no family.

When she was at school she found many friends. She said her name was Rose Smith, but something happened to her that almost made her ruin her whole new bright life. How will she ever learn to live with her awful secret? People were beginning to ask her questions she couldn't answer without giving her secret away.

ANTI-LITTERBUG TEENS CAN HELP

OUR FILTHY AMERICA

We are proud to live in America, the cold running streams, the abundance of blooming flowers, the warmth we receive from mankind and his domestic animals. We're all proud, but we treat it without care. Along our highways, in our parks, and playgrounds, there lies litter. Litter that no one dares to look at or cares to put in the right place. Litter, which turns our America into a dump. Litter, that goes into our rivers and lakes that were all once clear blue. Litter, that makes people turn sickly, that kills sea life and ruins our favorite swimming hole.

Do we feel proud when these things happen? I don't and probably many others feel the same way as I do. Our waters which were once clean, are filled with litter, junk and old lumber. It spreads like a forest fire, into our valleys, cities, streets, countrysides, and into our lakes and rivers. Are we proud that we are doing this? Or, are you proud because America was once clean or beautiful? What we need to do is to scrub, scrub real good. Wipe out the sickness, restore the happiness you once had on your favorite little countryside or wherever it is. Don't clog up our beautiful streams, please don't. Let it run, and our sons and daughters will enjoy its flowing water. If you're proud, clean up where there is litter, and make others feel proud, too.

TRACK ACTIVITIES UNDERWAY

For the past two weeks the boys on campus have worked out and prepared for track. During PE classed Coach Fisher has recorded the time of the fastest in each PE class. Many of the boys are pretty fast runners. They have been running relay races of several kinds, 100, 220, 440, 880 yd. dashes, and jogging a 2½ mile loop. The boys have been running through rain and cold wind but neither of these seem to stop them at all.

From track, the activity changed to physical fitness, and this is the last time to have it. It is the school year test.
